About The Seafood Bar

Located in the heart of Soho in a 1730 Grade II listed Georgian townhouse on the iconic Dean Street, The Seafood Bar is a restaurant serving the highest quality, freshest seafood.

With a minimalistic and sophisticated décor - think white marble, exposed bricks and light wood flooring, our restaurant is split over two floors and features two bars and two open kitchens.

Head down to the basement floor and you'll find a fully functioning marble bar, an open kitchen and three private caves for your private parties and bespoke events.

Food

With seafood delivered to us daily our menu uses only the freshest ingredients - it's never processed and you definitely won't find any additives.

There's also a strong focus on shellfish, as shellfish is known for having a minimal impact on the environment, and along with serving the best quality seafood, we place a high importance on sustainability.

We offer a variety of menus for private events including canapés, bowl food and a feasting menu.

Take a look at our group menus for an idea of what we serve or get in touch with us for more information.

Venue

Planning on hosting a celebratory dinner? The basement of our restaurant can seat 80 or, for more informal events there is space for 100.

With three semi-private caves, an open kitchen and a fully functioning marble bar, the basement can be hired exclusively. For smaller, more intimate events, then the semi-private caves with their low arched ceilings, subtle lighting and exposed brick walls make for the ideal setting for groups of up to eight guests for dinner or drinks.
